1. He has a very good understanding of Economics. Uses the English language very well. Didn't use too much technology, but he put graphs on the board which helped me grasp concepts much easier. The powerpoint presentations and test bank materials were written very well. This class definitely helped me grasp the subject of economics. I feel he taught this class very effectively.
2. I like the because there wasn't much for homework. One thing I didn't like was for as hard as there test. It would have nice to have some sort of worksheets to do to help with studying.
3. Economics all together was a good class. I learned a lot about economics. The tests are where I did not do well. I went into every test thinking I knew what was going on and then I ended up bombing it. The test themselves were worded in a way that were very confusing for me. Fernando made the class interesting. He brought a sense of humor in to the class room. I do not have many teachers that will do that.
4. Professor Quijano did a bang up job giving the students the correct information. His use of English was great. I could understand everything he had to say. In our class we did not use much for technology. Professor Quijano has great knowledge of this course and the world of economics. I think this course will help my future knowledge of Economics. Professor Quijano did a excellent job preparing student for the tests. I learned more in class and from tests. I enjoyed coming to this class because Professor Quijano made it enjoyable.
5. For me this class was challenging. The instructor taught it to his best ability. But this class felt like it was not for me. I did get some things out of this class though. I do understand economics in general more. How inflation works and more about the work force/labor force. The last two chapters of the course were the ones that interested me the most and the ones that I understood the most. But, it is a good class for those that do need to take it like me.
6. I felt that the class was overall very difficult. The material taught from the book was rarely on the test and those questions that we did go over were not asked in a manner that students could understand. I felt a curve should have been placed on the tests. The material was well explained and the instructor used graphs and other visuals that helped me understand. I do feel I learned a lot in the class, I just wasn't tested on the right material. Economics is a difficult subject to keep interesting so I thoroughly enjoyed the instructor's sense of humor. I feel that homework would have helped greatly and the class would have been better in a smart classroom. Overall, I felt the class was useful, it just needs some minor improvements.

7. As an instructor Fernando presented himself well in the classroom. His lectures were presented quite clearly and I understood the dynamics of Economics better than I could from the book. Fernando is very well versed in his practice of Economics. I enjoyed his class very much. I am surprised I learned such a great deal without any background in the subject matter. I appreciated him as an instructor. I worked for my grade because he drew my interest to the subject of Economics and I believe I fared very well. Thanks.
8. I thought he did a super job I didn't have any problems what so ever.
9. I didn't think he was a good instructor he is agrigant and needs to allow students to come to his office if they need help.
10. The course moved at a nice slow pace for a beginning class and the instructor kept the class light and interesting.
11. The course was well illistrated on the board and through in depth discussion of the subject. It was very visual, helping to understand ever with complete subjects. Some of these points were very complex, but through step by step instruction they became clearer and more easily understood. After a semester of Elements of Economics, I feel I understand the basic principles that are applied to economics and feel I can go further in the subject.

Spring 2001

#1 To whom it concerns:

I am very glad that I took Economics 105 from the professor Fernando F. Quijano. I learned a lot about how our economy works. Professor Quijano was an excellent teacher, as his lectures were very clear to understand. I would recommend this class to all my friends. I especially like his use of the internet in his course. I also browsed through some of his electronic blackboard programs. Even though they were not meant for our class, I found them very helpful to learn about economics. Professor Quijano was very knowledgeable as he knew a lot about economics and was very prepared for his lectures. I also liked his example about economics and real life. It was fun to hear his experiences in other places in the world and it helped to understand how their country operates and how their economy works. His class was very fair, if you took the time to study the material and his notes, you would be guaranteed a good grade. He also took enough time to explain each chapter before he gave you a test and also did a very good job of splitting up the book so he could get a little taste of everything in economics. Overall, as I said before, this was an excellent class and well worth taking. Compared to all my other classes at DSU this was the best one of all. The professor was excellent and the material was easy to understand. I am very satisfied with my grade and knowledge received from this class.

#2 The course was well illustrated on the board and through in depth discussion of the subject. It was very visual, helping to understand even with complex subjects. Some of these points were very complex, but through step by step instruction they became clearer and more easily understood. After a semester of Elements of Economics I feel I understand the basic principles that are applied to economics and feel I can go further in the subject.

#3 The course moved at a nice slow pace for a beginning class and the instructor kept the class light and intelligent.

#4 I didn't think he was a good instructor he is arrogant and needs to allow students to come to his office if they need help

#5 I thought he did a super job I did not have any problems what so ever.

#6 I have found this course to be very interesting. When I look back over my life and think of all the questions I had and some I still have concerning financial institutions, local, state, and federal government on how they make some of their decisions. How some of the monetary and fiscal decisions made and what on what basis. Through time I was able to figure out some of the answers to questions but I never associated economics specifically with business decisions. And also, how economics simplifies solutions and predictions to financial and some social problems. This course gave me a more broad understanding of economics and how it works and hopefully I will be able to pursue more economic courses as I go along with my education. I thought the tests were tough, but fair. My only problem throughout this course was the amount of time I had available for studies.(time scarcity) Your lectures were a lot easier to understand than the book information.

#7 He has a very good understanding of economics. Uses the English language very well. Didn't use too much technology, but he put graphs on the board which helped me grasp the concepts much easier. The PowerPoint presentation and test bank materials were written very well. This class definitely helped me grasp the subject of economics. I feel he taught this class very effectively.

#8 I really enjoyed this class. I came out this semester with a better understanding of economics and how it exists in everyday life. I did wish we had a few more homework assignments before each test to make sure we understood the materials being covered for the tests. Mr. Quijano has a great depth of knowledge concerning the materials being covered in this course.
