Comments
Mr. Quijano won't build you a rocket, but he can teach.

Senior Quijano was a very funny guy, and i enjoyed his class, but if he showed up on time, it would have been alot better. Also, the class was so laid back that when it came to the hardest test, no one was prepared, and he hadn't covered the subject matter to the fullest extent. This made it a tough class, when it really should have been a basic learning class that didn't require that much stress.

A major improvement in this course would be a book, for one. With no book how are we supposed to study outside of class? Another point would be for the grading process to be blind to international students, for there is definetly evidence Mr. Quijano favors the international students especially the Chinese. And as a last thought, I am never taking an economics class from this school because of this class and the teacher.
